

Position & Sell HDFC Life Solutions to Gen Z Customers

Team Name: mdb23030

Members' Names: Harsh Pandey & Utkarsh Kumar Pandey

Institution: Indian institute of Information Technology, Lucknow

Course: MBA (Digital Business)

Year: 2023-25

Executive Summary

Problem Statement: *Engaging Gen Z is crucial for HDFC Life, as this group represents 27% of India's population and is on the brink of making major financial decisions. With India facing a $17 trillion protection gap, there's an urgent need to enhance Gen Z's understanding of life insurance, aligning with HDFC Life's mission to "financially secure India's future."

THE CHALLENGE

- Gen Z, comprising 27% of India's population, is largely underinsured, with limited awareness about the importance of life insurance.
- They prefer financial solutions that are affordable, flexible, and offer immediate value or tangible benefits.
- Traditional life insurance products and marketing approaches fail to engage this digital-first, tech-savvy generation effectively.

THE OPPORTUNITY

- India faces a $17 trillion financial protection gap, with Gen Z on the cusp of financial decision-making.
- Leveraging Gen Z's interest in gaming offers a unique opportunity to bridge this gap.

Collaborate with BGMI to integrate HDFC LifeCare, an in-game feature teaching life insurance benefits.

KEY FEATURES

- Gamified insurance purchase and benefits in BGMI gameplay.
- Real-life concepts of financial security represented through in-game mechanics.

IMPACT

- Increased brand awareness among Gen Z.
- Engagement through an innovative digital-first strategy.
- Potential to scale this gamification model.

Indian Population

Source: Snap BCG Report

Problem Analysis

The Gen Z Demographic Challenge:

- Comprising 27% of India's population, Gen Z is a key growth segment for life insurance.
- However, only a small percentage are insured due to a lack of awareness and understanding of life insurance benefits.

The $17 Trillion Financial Protection Gap:

- India's protection gap highlights a significant shortfall in coverage to meet families' financial needs in unforeseen events.
- Gen Z contributes to this gap by prioritizing short-term financial goals over long-term security.

Components of household protection coverage in India, USD trillion

Note: numbers in this figure are rounded.
Source: Swiss Re Asia mortality protection gap survey 2019, Swiss Re Institute

India set to become the sixth largest insurance market by 2032

We estimate that total insurance premiums (life and non-life) volumes will grow by an average 14% per annum in nominal local currency terms over the next decade, making India the sixth largest insurance market in the world, up from 10th largest in 2021.

2021 (World = USD 6.7 tr)

2032 (World = USD 11.9 tr)

All values in USD trillion. Source: Swiss Re Institute

The Opportunity

Gen Z is highly engaged in gaming, particularly platforms like BGMI, offering an innovative channel to introduce life insurance concepts.

Perception of Life Insurance having only death benefits

Conventional marketing failing to provide customized offerings for GenZ

Challenges in traditional approaches

Key Assumptions

1. Gen Z Demographics and Behavior

- Gen Z is highly tech-savvy, spending significant time on gaming platforms like BGMI.
 - They value affordability, flexibility, and digital-first solutions over traditional financial tools.

2. Market and Industry Trends

- India's $17 trillion financial protection gap indicates a substantial untapped market.
- The popularity of gamification in marketing aligns with Gen Z's preference for experiential engagement.

3. Gaming as an Engagement Channel

- Collaborating with BGMI allows access to a highly engaged, interactive audience.
- In-game mechanics can effectively simulate real-life financial concepts in an engaging format.

4. Insurance Perception and Preferences

- Life insurance is currently seen as complex, expensive, and low-priority.
- Gamification can simplify these perceptions and increase relatability among younger audiences.

Research Insights

No. Of Participants: 107

WHAT IS YOUR PREFERRED MODE OF PLAY IN BGMI?

DO YOU PREFER PLAYING WITH FRIENDS OR RANDOM TEAMMATES?

HOW OFTEN DO YOU PLAY BGMI?

HOW MUCH TIME DO YOU TYPICALLY SPEND IN A SINGLE BGMI SESSION?

Primary Research

Would you be interested in purchasing HDFC lifeCare in BGMI, where teammates receive supplies if you die?

- Yes: 78 (73%)
- No: 17 (16%)
- Maybe: 12 (11%)

HDFC lifeCare In-Game Features

(3/20 Question-Answer)

Would you associate life insurance with any positive outcomes in real life after experiencing this event in BGMI?

- Yes, if it's affordable: 63 (59%)
- Yes, but only for the best coverage: 17 (16%)
- No, I wouldn't spend money or in-game currency: 20 (19%)
- I'm not sure: 7 (7%)

Would you associate life insurance with any positive outcomes in real life after experiencing this event in BGMI?

- Yes, it would make me think more about life insurance: 50 (47%)
- Maybe, depending on how the event is presented: 40 (37%)
- No, I would still see it as irrelevant: 10 (9%)
- I don't think the event will change my view on life insurance: 7 (7%)

Proposed Solution: Gamification through BGMI Collaboration

HDFC Life proposes a groundbreaking collaboration with BGMI to introduce a unique insurance product, HDFC LifeCare.

The insurance product will be seamlessly integrated into the BGMI gaming experience.

While offering in-game rewards, the primary benefit is real-world insurance coverage.

Players can purchase HDFC LifeCare using coin they collected during the match

Upon a player's in-game demise, their teammates will receive in-game benefits

1. Gamification makes the insurance purchasing process interactive and exciting.
2. The in-game purchase option simplifies the process for younger audiences.
3. Aligning with a popular game can improve brand perception.

Implementation Plan

Implementation Plan: Gamification Strategy with BGMI

Marketing Strategy

HDFC LifeCare in BGMI

An in-game insurance feature offering coverage benefits to teammates upon a player's demise.

Educates users on life insurance concepts in an engaging, relatable format.

Available in multiple tiers (basic, premium) to simulate real-life policy options.

Affordable Entry Point

Designed to align with Gen Z's preference for low-cost, high-value financial tools.

Offers tangible in-game benefits (supplies like medikits, guns, flare guns) to increase perceived value.

MARKETING FRAMEWORK

Reaching Audience

In-Game Integration: HDFC LifeCare directly within BGMI, ensuring maximum exposure to an active gaming audience.

Digital Platforms: Social media campaigns on Instagram, YouTube, and Twitter targeting gaming communities.

Influencer Channels: Partner with popular BGMI streamers to showcase gameplay and benefits.

Engagement

In-Game Advertising: Banners, pop-ups, and missions promoting HDFC LifeCare.

E-Sports Sponsorships: Branding in BGMI tournaments to reach broader audiences.

Interactive Campaigns: Challenges, limited-time offers, and exclusive rewards for players engaging with HDFC LifeCare.

Messaging

"Protect your teammates in BGMI, protect your loved ones in real life."

Success Metrics: Measuring Impact of the Campaign

Measurable KPIs

Key Performance Indicators (KPIs)

Number of HDFC LifeCare purchases in BGMI and player retention rates during the campaign.

Brand Awareness

Increase in HDFC Life's mentions across social media platforms alongwith reach and impressions from influencer campaigns and in-game ad.

Education and Awareness

Survey responses showing improved understanding of life insurance among Gen Z players.

Percentage of players able to recall HDFC LifeCare and its real-life parallels

Quantitative Goals

- Achieve 1 million HDFC LifeCare purchases within six months.
- Increase website traffic by 30% from referral links in BGMI.
- Boost social media engagement by 25% during the campaign period.

Financial Viability: Cost-Benefit Analysis

Associated Costs

Total Costs for the program

(Would need more data points for guesstimating this figure)

Associated Benefits

Huge Scalability Potential, with strategy replication possible across various e-sporting events or expos

Future Outlook: Scaling Gamification for Gen Z Engagement

1. Scaling the BGMI Collaboration:

1. Introduce advanced HDFC LifeCare features (e.g., enhanced coverage tiers, dynamic in-game rewards).
2. Organize exclusive BGMI tournaments branded with HDFC Life for sustained engagement.

2. Expanding to Other Gaming Platforms:

1. Partner with other popular games like Free Fire, Call of Duty Mobile, or Valorant.
2. Adapt gamification mechanics to fit different gameplay styles and audience preferences.

3. Broader Digital Ecosystem Integration:

1. Launch AR/VR-based educational simulations about financial planning on platforms like Meta Horizon.
2. Incorporate life insurance gamification into fintech apps for deeper user engagement.

4. Strengthening Brand Loyalty:

1. Create a loyalty program for players engaging with HDFC LifeCare, offering rewards like premium in-game items or HDFC Life discounts.
2. Maintain constant engagement through social media challenges, live streams, and interactive financial literacy content.

5. Targeted Awareness Campaigns:

1. Utilize insights from campaign analytics to refine messaging and target untapped Gen Z subgroups.
2. Collaborate with educational institutions and gaming communities to drive awareness through webinars and e-sports sponsorships.

6. Vision for the Future:

1. Establish HDFC Life as the most relatable, tech-driven insurance provider among Gen Z.
2. Position gamification as a core strategy for financial literacy and customer acquisition.

The Potential

- Increased Brand Visibility
- Enhanced Brand Image
- Enhanced Customer Acquisition
- Enhanced Financial Literacy
- Building Brand Loyalty

Thank You

